By Delorme Donaldson Cairnes

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Report on a Portion of Conrad and Whitehorse Mining Districts, Yukon Owing to the lack of time in which to make a complete micrometer survey of the rivers and creeks, these have all, with the exception of Watson river, been plotted from sketches. The railway, and the north and south portion of the Watson river, were plotted from the location line of the W. P. Y. railway. Transportation. This district is easily accessible. Steamers ply regularly between Seattle and Vancouver, and Skagway, - distances respectively of about 1,000 and 867 miles. From Skagway, Whitehorse, which is about 111 miles distant, is reached by the W. P. Y. railway; thence, steamers run to Dawson, 460 miles. The railway has a general north and south direction, and at 20.4 miles from Skagway the summit of the White pass, which marks the boundary between the Panhandle portion of Alaska and British Columbia to the north, is crossed. About thirty-one miles farther is the 60th parallel, the boundary between British Columbia and the Yukon. From the White Pass summit...
